Ryan Gander (Chester, 1976) è l'artista cui è stato tributato il Dena Foundation Art Award 2006 - un riconoscimento internazionale che premia gli artisti impegnati in progetti di "public art" dalla forte rilevanza sociale e sensibili alle problematiche riguardanti la natura e il pianeta. Ryan Gander, autore di opere spesso impercettibili che si confondono nel contesto architettonico in cui vengono realizzati, si è segnalato in particolare per l'intervento Nine Project for the Pavillon de l'Esprit Nouveau presentato nella primavera del 2006 al MAMbo di Bologna per il padiglione de l'Esprit Nouveau di Bologna, edificio progettato a Parigi nel 1925 da Le Corbusier quale simbolo delle utopie del funzionalismo modernista, e ricostruito a Bologna nel 1977. Il volume, edito in occasione dell'assegnazione del premio, presenta il lavoro di Gander, accompagnato da un'intervista all'artista realizzata da Hans Ulrich Obrist, e dagli interventi di Will Bradley, Charles Esche, Francesco Manacorda, François Piron e Andrea Viliani.
